FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1911.

An Evening Echo.

Health lies in labor, and there is no royal road to it but through toil.—WUNDELL PHILLIPS.

Lafe to Attend.

It is unusual for the Charleston Mail to ask a foolish question like the following one:

"We wonder, now, if one Lafe Shock, Democratic member of the legislature from Braxton county, received, and will accept, an invitation to Senator Watson's week-end party at Fairmont Farms?"

Of course, he received an invitation and, of course he has accepted it. Lafe is known to be willing to accept things tendered him, even legal tender, and there is no reason why he should be forgotten on the occasion referred to in the question. The only trouble is some one may have intercepted Lafe's invitation. Maybe he got "strong-armed" after he received it. If Lafe is not there, it will be no fault of the Farms or Lafe.

Fighting Democratic Rottenness.

Senator Bland's West Union Record publishes a seven-column article, making a terrible arraignment of the Democratic press. Senator Bland's newspaper says:

"This is one of the very, very few Democratic journals that have the courage to denounce the rottenness in the Democratic party."

Senator Bland was on the scene at Charleston last winter and this spring and he doubtless knows whereof his newspaper speaks. He evidently has kept a good tab on the Democratic press of the state as shown by what his newspaper says as quoted. Senator Bland is not believed to have an "axe to grind," and therefore, the words of his newspaper as stated should have great weight.

Senator Bland may make the subsidized Democratic state machine press cringe and the bosses mad but he will find that the former will continue to do the bidding of the latter. He has no easy task to rid his party of its rottenness under those circumstances.

Change for the Better.

One by one men who have earned a national reputation for financial shrewdness in Wall street are passing away. Death has been busy in the Vanderbilt and Gould families, some of the strongest men in the Standard Oil group are gone and the number of old-time Wall street operators is growing smaller almost daily. And now James R. Keene, who, in his day, fought alternately with and against the most adroit money-makers on the stock market, is on the dangerously sick list.

The race for wealth in Wall street is generally condemned by the public, yet in spite of the passing of the most powerful stock manipulators of their time, new ones spring up to take their places, and so the struggle for mastery of the market continues. This is a natural proceeding, but there is a decided change going on in Wall street conditions, says the Boston Globe.

In spite of assertions to the contrary, Wall street cannot find so many dupes as formerly. Even the kings of finance have to alter their plans, and this they are doing. Instead of depending entirely on stock dealings, as did their fathers, the sons are branching out into new and legitimate industrial fields and placing capital in enterprises where the returns are more satisfactory and safer.

Where Are the Senators?

The West Union Record runs a "want" editorial, although it has not clearly classified its editorials in general. This "want" is for "A Democratic Leader" and it says in explaining the "want":

"In no state in the Union is the Democratic party more in need of strong, virile, clean leadership than in the state of West Virginia."

Are not Senators Chilton and Watson the Democratic leaders in this state? Have they not handed the legislature at two sessions the present year? Did they not decide who should be senators from this state? Did they not also decide that there should be no primary election legislation in this state, in which the election of a United States senator in 1913 is involved? (Did they not turn down a proposition to let the people vote next year direct for United States senator? While they were doing these things were they not leading the Democratic party through its representatives in the legislature? Have they not led and are they not leading the party?"

It is not a leader that the West Union Record wants for the party as the party has two already as shown. What the Record really does want is a different kind of a leader from either of the two gentlemen mentioned, or at least it does not seem to grant that they have the qualities essential to true leadership.

FORGERY

Is Charged at Weston against Furbee by the Grand Jury.

WESTON, W. Va., July 12.—The grand jury, which was composed of W. T. Chittum, foreman, Peter Egan, J. W. Simmons, John Casey, W. K. Brown, M. M. Reger, S. P. Bishop, E. L. Smith, Newton Casco, Charles Craig, H. W. GaFord, Peter Plesher, L. D. Mick, J. A. Rohrbough, Burgess Morris and J. C. Wilson, examined many witnesses and returned many indictments. Della Conrad and Nancy Bush were indicted for the destruction of the infant found some months ago in Polk creek. A felony indictment was returned against G. I. Bragg for obtaining money under false pretense, and one against S. E. Furbee for passing a worthless check. The other seven were for misdemeanors, and were against Cleo Hinzman, G. W. Drummond, and J. E. Bush for (trespass, assault and battery; A. B. Post, for trespass and assault; Luther Radcliff, carrying knucks; Mary W. Daugherty, keeping a hotel without a license, and S. E. Furbee, passing a worthless check for less than $20.

In the case of Cleo Hinzman, a plea of guilty was made and a fine of $5.00 and costs was imposed.

POKER PLAYER ENDS LIFE.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 14.—Losing his money at poker playing, then quarrelling over the fact with h's family when he went home, George Shields, aged 42, a tinner, went to the shop where he was employed and ended his life with carbolic acid. He died within a few minutes. A wife and several children survive.

COW IN HOME.

ELKINS, July 14.—During the absence of Mrs. S. C. Parsons from her home at Davis, a cow made its way into the house through a rear door, going through the kitchen and dining room, and was on the point of entering the parlor, when Mrs. Davis returned.
